After analyzing this report we hope that you will want to support the Improvement Program for Hope School District I-A.

19 Missing in Collision of Ships

LUTCHER, La. (AP) — The grim task of searching for the missing continued today after a ship-barge collision that apparently took the lives of 19 Norwegian tanker crew members.

Twelve bodies—most of them badly burned—were recovered from the Mississippi River and the charred bulk of the 13,500-ton motor tanker Boheme. Searchers sought seven others still unaccounted for.

Firefighters put out the last blaze around the beached ship Sunday night—about 36 hours after the tanker, bound for the continent, collided near here with a string of oil barges towed by the tug Bonnie D.

As salvage work began, the Coast Guard prepared an investigation but no hearing date was announced. A spokesman for A. O. Andersen Steamship Co., of Oslo, Norway, owner of the Boheme, said her cargo, which included a highly flammable nitrate solvent, was intact.

The spokesman said it was too early to give an estimate of damage, but fore and aft sections were badly charred.

Burning oil from some of the four barges spewed into the channel and set the ship ablaze during the predawn hours Saturday.

Panic-stricken crewmen leaped into the flaming waters as fire roared across the Boheme's deck and explosions—apparently from the engine room—rocked the tanker. Seamen's cries could be heard from shore.

The lone identified body was that of Second Mate Hans Wollsen, 5, of Copenhagen. It was found in the river son after the crash.

McNab Man Is Shot to Death, Another Held

A man was killed in a gun-knife battle in the Yellow Creek bottoms two miles from McNab Sunday.

Phillip Knighten, 41, a resident of McNab was shot to death and police are holding Robert N. (Bob) Hester, 54, of McNab for the shooting.

The fight occurred Sunday when the two men met in Hester's field about a quarter of a mile from the Yellow Creek Club. Knighten was shot three times with a .38 cal. revolver, once in the front and twice in the back. He was believed killed almost instantly.

According to Deputy Sheriff Herbert Griffin the men met, got into an argument and the fight resulted. Griffin said Hester told him that Knighten pulled a knife and tried to ride him down from horseback. He said he shot knighten three times and left him lying in the field.

Deputy Griffin said Hester then went to Fulton and gave himself up to Constable Jim Moore about 12 noon. Moore brought Hester into Hope and turned him over to the Sheriff.

No charges had been filed at noon today. Hester remains in Hempstead County Jail.

Crisis Conference Is Called by President on Cuba and Berlin

Kennedy Will Talk to Nation Tonight at 7

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy called a series of crisis conferences at the White House today and scheduled a radio and television address to the nation tonight on "a subject of the highest national urgency."

Speculation persisted in high quarters here that Kennedy was ready to make some dramatic move in the Cuban situation with probable impact on the Berlin crisis and possibly repercussions in the Far East.

The White House announced that the President would go on television at 7 p.m. Washington time.

He summoned congressional leaders of both parties to an extraordinary session, rounding them up from over the country, and arranged meetings of the Cabinet and the National Security Council.

The White House, State Department, Defense Department, and other government agencies maintained strict silence on Kennedy's plans, with one exception.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester denied Sunday night that United States forces which have been massed in the Caribbean area for maneuvers around the island of Vieques at Puerto Rico would invade Cuba.

The Defense Department announced today that the practice landing of thousands of Marines at Vieques which had been scheduled for Tuesday was canceled. The department said that ships had been scattered by Hurricane Ella which recently passed near the exercise area.

Whatever the reason it was clear that the thousands of Marines and the vessels were released for other action.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger declined to elaborate on his phrase "a subject of the highest national urgency."

He said the television and radio networks had been asked to set aside a half hour for the address to the nation.

Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress were asked to report to the White House at 5 p.m. EDT.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson already was in Washington. Fifteen senators and representatives, including chairmen and top minority members of the Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees of Congress, were asked to attend the conference with Kennedy.

Salinger said Air Force planes were sent to bring the senators and representatives to Washington where no other rapid transportation was available.

Kennedy conferred in private this morning with key administration officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The high level sessions were held while evidence mounted that some major international development was imminent.

There was fresh speculation that the heart of the mystery-laden meetings in the capital over the

Dramatic Move Against Cuba Believed Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. military buildup in the Caribbean and a flurry of secret weekend activity by Washington officials pointed today toward a major U.S. move, perhaps concerning Cuba.

There were signs an announcement would be forthcoming soon. A White House spokesman refused to confirm or deny this.

Reports circulated through the capital that President Kennedy planned a television-radio address to the nation to report on the reason for the secret conferences. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said he knew of no such plans.

A U.S. order cracking down on ships carrying goods to Cuba is expected early this week. Other activity led to speculation that Kennedy was readying a more dramatic move against the Communist regime of Fidel Castro.

Among weekend developments heightening this speculation were military movements, secrecy shrouded Saturday-Sunday work by Pentagon leaders and Kennedy's abrupt cancellation of a political tour on grounds he had a cold.

The main announced military concentration consisted of some 40 ships, 20,000 men and carrier aircraft assembled for the Navy's annual maneuvers around Vieques, a small island east of Puerto Rico.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester denied the Oct. 15-30 exercise is a cover for any planned attack against Cuba. He said no U.S. invasion is imminent against Cuba, Haiti or any other Latin American country.

Other military moves included: Round-the-clock construction work at Florida's Key West airport, 90 miles from Havana, to build a control tower said to be needed to handle a big increase in traffic. All leaves were canceled at the nearby Boca Chica Naval Air Station and the Florida Keys bristled with soldiers.

A squadron of Navy jet fighters recently shifted to Key West.

A rifle battalion of about 1,200 Marines transferred from Camp Pendleton, Calif., to Camp Lejeune, N.C., allegedly as part of the Caribbean maneuvers.

A flight of KB30 tanker planes from Langley Air Force Base, destination undisclosed. The Pentagon called this "part of a normal mobility training activity."

A squadron of six amphibious vessels sailed from Norfolk, Va. to join the Caribbean exercise.

A number of other naval vessels left Norfolk, to the Defense Department saying they were to ride out Hurricane Ella in open water rather than in port.

Sunday at the Pentagon saw an unusually high attendance of brass, including Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth and Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., chief of naval operations.

Kennedy attended church Sunday and showed no signs of the cold which was the stated reason for his return to Washington Saturday ahead of schedule.

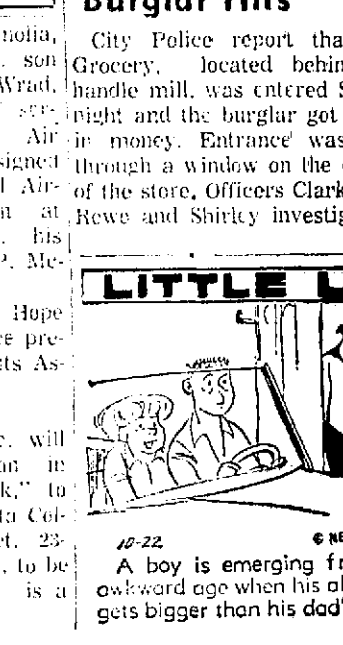

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was at his desk for part of the day, as was Salinger, not normally a Sunday worker.

Heavy Fighting Raging Along India Border

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian-Chinese border conflict raged into a third day of heavy fighting today with Red China reporting a strong attack by Indian forces in the eastern sector of the rugged Himalayan frontier.

A New China News Agency broadcast said Indian troops in "Himalayan" launched a violent attack and the Chinese "were compelled to hit back in self-defense."

There was no immediate confirmation here of an Indian attack, but the Indian Army, in retreat in the first two days of fighting, reported continuing Chinese pressure on at least three points of the 1,000-mile, snow-covered border.

When the fighting first erupted Saturday, the Chinese accused the Indians of launching violent attacks against which they said they had to take counter-measures.

One new Chinese objective appeared to be Chushul airfield, only air supply base for Indian troops facing the Chinese in the Ladakh theater of operations, 900 miles west of the Northeast Frontier area, which is near the air field.

The Indians said fighting also continued in the Chitrapur River valley of the Ladakh front.

Each side continued to accuse the other of aggression. Chinese Communist propaganda organs hammered on charges linking the strife.

Texarkana to Get New Tire Plant

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—

Plans for the location of a tire manufacturing plant at Texarkana were announced Saturday by three members of the Arkansas Congressional delegation.

In a joint statement Sens. J. William Fulbright and John L. McClellan and Rep. Oren Harris said Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. of Findlay, Ohio will build a factory if adequate financing can be arranged. The plant would employ 400 workers and have an annual payroll of $2,800,000. It would cost about $10 million.

The Congressmen said the application of Texarkana for a loan to help finance the plant has been initially cleared by the Area Redevelopment Administration. Complete processing will take about two months, they said.

Industrial bonds would be issued to supplement an ARA loan. The Texarkana plant, if approved, would be the fourth ARA project in the state. Its first undertaking was a $31,000 loan and $129,000 grant for a water system at Gassville.

Heber Springs has been given $72,000 to extend its water works into a new factory and Star City got a $9,377 loan to help finance a plant.

Fulbright mixed a little campaigning in with the announcement. He is opposed by Republican Kenneth Jones of Little Rock in the general election Nov. 6.

Fulbright said, "This (ARA) is one of the many federal programs which offer an opportunity for a partnership in progress between our national government and our local governments for the economic development of the state."

"Some shortsighted people, including my opponent, wrongly label these programs as socialism. I do not feel that a program we expand our free enterprise economy, which provide jobs and a better life for our people, and which strengthens our nation are socialistic."

Sputnik was a severe blow to the pride of Americans. In the first confused weeks, everything from the nation's schools to automobile tail fins was called into question. Though some tried to minimize it, it was evident that we were in a race—and that the Russians had a good head start. America's prestige—if not more, was at stake.

Court No Place for Sympathy

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that sympathy has no place in a courtroom.

The ruling was handed down in a case in which a 13-year old boy was injured when he received a blow on the head from the arm of a baseball pitching machine.

Lloyd Barrow, father of Robert Barrow, filed suit in Craighead Circuit Court seeking to recover $6,000 in damages from Everett D. Bolton, owner of a Jonesboro amusement park, where the machine was located.

The park was closed at the time of the accident the court ruled in favor of Bolton. During the circuit court hearing, Judge Charles W. Lihl refused to allow Barrow's attorney to read dictionary cuit court hearing, Judge Charles W. Lihl refused to allow Barrow's attorney to read dictionary

Barrow appealed the case to the Supreme Court contending sympathy was proper grounds for recovery and that the lower court abused its discretion by not allowing the argument.

Associate Justice Jim Johnson upheld the circuit court. In his opinion, Johnson said definition of terms was to be given by the court by way of instruction to the jury, rather than by argument by counsel.

THE STORY: Columbine suspects that mischief is afoot at the motel she has inherited. The motel's net income has diminished alarmingly since her father's death.

"You," she said, "have had opportunity to scrutinize me. On the train. As we drove here last night. Since you have been in my office this morning. Would you state it as your considered opinion that I look like what the cat dragged in?"

"This was embarrassing. No woman had a right to pose such a question and expect an honest answer."

"Do you," he demanded, "actually want me to tell you?"

"Otherwise," she said, "I should not have asked."

He was angry—angry at having been put in such a position. So he blurted, with no attempt to soften the blow, "I can't see what any cat could see in you to induce it to drag you in—or out."

"Thank you very much," she said, with no visible emotion. "I desired a second opinion on the point."

She seemed neither hurt nor angered. She had merely acquired another fact to be filed away.

He rose abruptly because he wanted to go away from there. "Will you study that report?" he said. "Then turn loose your intuition. I can always be reached by telephone at the office." She lifted her hand and moved it negligently in dismissal, as to a troublesome third-grade pupil. The hand, he saw, was slender, with shapely, tapering fingers. He shrugged and went out silently.

But the silence was brief. Through the open door from the front office came a strident voice, possibly female, but harsh and imperative.

"I," the voice went on, "am Madame Thistlebun, of Amarillo, New York, Paris and points east. I got a reservation in this flea bag. Me 'n' my maid and shof-fer."

"You have been expected. All is in readiness."

A disappointed sniff was audible. Madame would have preferred difficulties and negligence.

"Have you," she demanded, "got a safe that can't be opened with a can opener? I've got enough junk in this jewel case to stock a store."

"We have an excellent safe, umbine said. "She expressed her madame. Excellent."

She moved away from the desk as majestically as a seagoing tugboat, but paused some dozen feet away. "You got a professor here name of Artemus Thumb?"

"No, madame."

"Or some kind of a reverend with his collar on backwards by the name of Martimus?"

"No, ma'am."

"If either of 'em looms over the horizon," she ordered "gimme a buzz."

"Yes, ma'am," said Simpkins meekly.

That, Columbine said to herself, would be the trio with whom she had eaten on the Century; the chubby, cheery priest; the professor enjoying his sabbatical; and the oil millionaire's reticent. The two men had striven to create the impression that they were strangers, but Columbine had sensed that they were acquaintances. Madame had striven to create no impression, but Columbine had believed it to be her first encounter with the priest and the savant. It seemed that in this she had been mistaken.

For no definite reason her thoughts switched to that piece of airplane luggage hidden in her closet. She found herself wishing she had confided in Sam Jones, that she had even shown to him the strange contents of the case.

Again Simpkins appeared in the door. "A Mr. Lucius Quentin to see you," he said.

"Why?" asked Columbine.

"He said to welcome you to town. He owns a couple of elite motor hotels here."

"Show him in," Columbine directed.

She looked up as Mr. Quentin entered, and saw a tall, blond, handsome man on the sunny side of 40. He was meticulously tailored and there was a faint scent of masculine perfume.

"Welcome, Phoenix, Miss Dugget," he said in a pleasantly musical voice. "Your father's going was a great loss to our profession."

"He was," Columbine replied, "a complete stranger to me."

"Indeed!" said Mr. Quentin, momentarily at a loss for words. She did not ask him to be seated, possibly because his impressive appearance over-awed her.

"Have you," he asked, "been previously engaged in the hotel business?"

"No."

"You will," he said gravely, "find it a complex and bewildering field of endeavor."

"As Ernestine Plummer, aged eight, was wont to say, 'One'll get you 10 I don't flop.'"

"I beg your pardon!"

"A former pupil of mine," Columbine said. "She expressed her on the possibility that the ranking members of Congress were being assembled for a briefing from the President.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in Chicago that he had been asked to fly to Washington on urgent business and that Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois assistant House GOP leader also had been summoned.

Dirksen said he did not know what lay behind the White House call but an Air Force jet had been placed at his disposal for the trip.

Reports quickly came of the White House contacting other congressional leaders. The Indiana office of House Republican leader Charles Halleck reported a call from the White House. It was referred to Mitchell S.D. where Halleck is campaigning.

Sen. Richard Russell D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee hurriedly left his home in Georgia this morning. He did not reveal his destination.

In Milwaukee Sen. Alexander Wiley R-Wis. canceled campaign speeches and prepared to return to Washington. Wiley is the ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The forces of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey Democratic leader and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were on their way to Washington.

Durability Question Answered

Cement Wins Road Contest

Portland cement concrete was the apparent winner Thursday of a five-year endurance contest with asphalt concrete in Oklahoma.

Cement concrete sections were reported still in good condition. The 1957 cement concrete sections, based patterns with both maintenance of types tested, used on the test road.

State Reports On Test Road: 'Cement Best'

THE LAWTON CONSTITUTION

Total upkeep ran $44,787.05 less for concrete

(Asphalt required complete resurfacing in its 6th year)

Published reports tell the official upkeep story on Oklahoma's heavily-traveled test road.

Ordered by the Oklahoma legislature, connecting two-mile stretches of concrete and asphalt pavements were built to approved designs to compare maintenance costs. The test road was installed as part of busy U.S. 77 north of Oklahoma City. The test began Jan. 1, 1956.

Information released by the Oklahoma Highway Department gives the results: In the 6th year of the testing (1961), concrete sections were in excellent condition. The asphalt sections have required complete resurfacing of 1½ inches to strengthen the pavement and provide a new wearing course—at a cost of $43,753.00.

To this figure can be added the 5 years' maintenance costs of $1,591.87 for asphalt—nearly 3 times as much as the $557.82 total incurred by the concrete.

The official test road results show why concrete assures fewer problems for engineers and officials, better value for taxpayers. Such test results explain the growing choice of concrete for the Interstate System and other heavy-duty highways!

Ministers Tells Force of Prayer

With the threat of Communism all around us and with tensions and pressures mounting throughout the world, it is time for all Christians to turn to prayer and God, Evans list C. N. Rue told a First Baptist congregation last night in opening a week's campaign here.

"Prayer is the greatest force on earth because the power of answered prayer comes from God—and who can be greater than God?"

He said the Bible—God's holy word—was no longer the best solution, but had been replaced by a line of Communist propaganda spreading throughout the world. His subject for Monday night: "Shouting Grounds." Tuesday night he urged the presence of all Hempstead county war veterans for a message revolving around circumstances when he was called to preach while surviving with the U. S. Marines in World War II.

3rd Try to Bring Estes to Trial

By FINIS MOTHERSHEAD

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—The state began a third attempt today to try West Texas promoter Billie S. J. Estes on charges of theft and swindling.

Court convened with Estes appearing in his usual black suit and black tie.

Defense attorneys moved that all cameras, sound equipment and radio facilities be banned from the courtroom. They began offering evidence to support their motion.

Added at the back of the courtroom is a booth for television cameras. Four cameras were there as court convened.

Estes once headed an empire of fertilizer sales, grain storage and cotton growing. He was arrested last March on Federal fraud charges, became bankrupt and cases numerous state and Federal charges, many of them involving mortgages on fertilizer storage tanks.

John Cofer, Austin, Tex., lawyer heading Estes' defense, declared "this should be just between the state and the defendant. As for informing the public, I think that is wrong."

The lawyer noted the television booth and said "This doesn't look like a courtroom to me. It looks like a movie theater. This trial has assumed the nature of instructing the public rather than determining the guilt or innocence of the defendant."

Marshall Pengra, general manager of KLTN in Tyler, followed Cofer. He testified that his station had one camera in the courtroom filming with sound, but the proceedings were not being broadcast live. He said three television networks also were televising the proceedings but not for instantaneous broadcasting.

International telephone calls increased 15 per cent in 1961, it is reported.

New Trial in Conviction at Ashdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court directed today that the Arkansas Supreme Court reconsider the conviction of Edward Walton Jr., a Negro sentenced to death for the murder of Roy Hollman, a night watchman of Ashdown, Ark.

Hollman was beaten and shot in the back while guarding the Ashdown Service Center early in the morning of June 20, 1959. The center was robbed after the attack on Hollman.

Walton was sentenced by the Little River County, Ark., circuit court on July 7, 1960 and the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the sentence on Oct. 16, 1961.

The U.S. Supreme Court in an unsigned opinion, said it had studied an appeal filed by counsel for Walton and was unable to conclude from the record either that the Negro had an attorney at the time he was arraigned in Little River County, or that he was told of his right to have a lawyer and, if told, that he understandingly waived the right.

In such circumstances, the high court said, the Arkansas Supreme Court's conviction had to be vacated and the case sent back to the state Supreme Court for further consideration. The highest court said the state court could take such "appropriate proceedings as may be available under state law for resolution" of contentions by Walton's counsel that the Negro's rights under the federal constitution had been violated.

Parents' Divorce Blights Teenager's Life

DOROTHY DIX

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My parents were divorced when I was six. I was shifted from pillar to post. Now I am living with my grandmother. I don't get along at all with the rest of our family. They call me a tramp, and worse. A year ago I tried to commit suicide. Even though young when my parents broke up, I can remember the beatings my mother took. Because of that I am afraid to get serious about any boy. I'm 15, as attractive and popular as the average girl, and want to fill in love; but whenever I find someone I really like I cry and tell him I don't want to see him again. I've had some wonderful boy friends who would do anything for me, but am never satisfied. Almost anything makes me weep. I'm nervous and lonely. Please help me. -Forlorn

Dear Forlorn: When parents divorce, one of the worst emotional consequences is a deep sense of insecurity generated in the children. They are deprived of their familiar surroundings and robbed of the warmth and comfort of a normal family life. The feeling of being cut adrift is intensified when, as in your case, the child lives with neither parent after the divorce.

As a result, the search for substitute love can become almost frantic. So basic is this drive that a youngster can hunger for love even while fearing it because of memories of an unhappy relationship between mother and father.

You show an intelligent awareness of these factors in your own background. Certainly the remembrance of your mother's beatings would make you shy from any close attachments of your own, yet being driven from "pillar to post" would make you long all the more for some solid relationship. Having analyzed your problem this well, you should be able to take it a step further. In this connection the most important fact to keep in mind is your age.

At 15 you are still too young to launch on so serious a quest for love of the adult kind. If you put aside this idea for the time being, you will also not have to contend, at this early stage, with the nervousness that overcomes you when thinking you have found such love. Keep your relationships with girls, too. Plunge into your school work and into healthful extracurricular activities such as sports. All this will keep you busy and occupied, cure your loneliness, and help develop valuable personality traits that will make you more stable emotionally. By the time real love comes your way you will not fear it, but recognize and be ready for it.

Dear Helen: My 52-year-old wife bypasses me for men half her age. She is out drinking and dancing every night in supper clubs. I try to keep up with her but I'm not as young as I used to be - though well preserved for my 53 years. Yet, I can't help loving this woman for she was once a really fine human being. Should I retaliate by dating a young girl in my office - just to show my wife how ridiculous people our age appear when robbing the cradle? -Almost Out Of My Mind.

Dear Almost: You and your wife are both at the dangerous age - the autumn of your physical powers, so watch your step. Obviously she is striving to have a fling before finally settling down. The chances are that you've taken her too much for granted. Try and win her back by studying what she likes to do - aside from night-clubbing which, even for the most insatiable, can pall after a time.

Bring her presents, take her to dinner. See her when you look at her. Show her that she is in your thoughts and heart. The delicate balance of marital relations is difficult to maintain unless you work at it. To date the girl in your office is to sink to the level of your wife's frenzied race with time. Pull her up instead of going with her!

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her in care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Cautious Parents."

Hogs Outplay Texas But Lose by 7-3 Score

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas' Razorbacks rebelled against national logic for 59 minutes and 24 seconds in Memorial Stadium Saturday night and then Texas, mightiest team in the country, balled home with a 7-3 Southwest Conference football victory.

The verdict was not established at the line, where the Arkansas yeomen outlasted the Longhorns in a mauling duel. It was determined with a passing attack Texas allegedly didn't have.

The winning touchdown drive began at the Texas 15, with the Longhorns apparently out of it. But Duke Carlisle, a defensive tailback by trade, came on to connect on three quick passes to move the Longhorns to the Arkansas 49, and then he carried for four yards.

Jerry Cook ripped through the line to the 34, Johnny Genung, generally the Texas quarterback, replaced Carlisle and fired a pass to Charles Talbert on the 25. Fullback Ryn Ponge got four.

Then Genung shot a pass to Tommy Ford at the 15, and Talbert took a pass to the nine. Ponge got six yards, and Ford was held at the three.

The Razorbacks' Stan Sparks slapped down a Genung pass, but Ford slanted off tackle for the clincher with 3 seconds to play.

Arkansas took the kickoff, and sophomore quarterback Billy Gray came on to hurl one slight-for-broke pass, which Carlisle intercepted.

Texas became the first team in the nation to squelch the offensive high-jinks of daring Billy Moore, holding the 176-pound veteran to 37 yards on the ground and 55 in the air.

It was the first loss of the year against Arkansas, which was ranked seventh nationally before the game. Texas, rated No. 1, took its fifth straight victory.

Tommy McNelly hosted Arkansas into a 3-0 lead in the second quarter by kicking his first field goal in college football—a booming 41-yard effort.

Texas was supposed to be a defense team, and in the clutch the Longhorns came through. But the Razorbacks set up shop almost continually on the Texas side of the 50.

Hope Player in Key Interception

ROY ROWE (No. 82) OUACHITA BAPTIST College linebacker from Hope returns an interception of A&M Jimmy Atkinson's pass in the third quarter from the Tiger 10 to the 31 to stop a Bollweevil threat. The Tigers went on to defeat Monticello 6-0.

Spring Hill Wins Two Over Blevins

Friday night the Spring Hill Junior girls defeated the Blevins Junior girls by a 36 to 28 score with Martha Garner tossing in 10, Lita Powell and Bessie Kidd eight each. Ann Hearn had 15 for Blevins.

In the Senior girls game Spring Hill again came through with a 29 to 23 win over Blevins. Spring Hill's Jackie Kidd scored 17 and Blevins' Jackie Wilson got eight.

The Blevins senior boys coked out a 61 to 59 victory with Harrison pouring in 17 points and Phillips 12. Clint Kidd made 19 for Spring Hill and Dennis Pelk 16.

Pro Redskins Are Having a Real Ball

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Norm Snead and Bobby Mitchell, just a couple of kids at heart, are having a ball with the Washington Redskins this year. Trouble is, none of their Sunday playmates from around the National Football League appreciate their antics.

This high-flying quarterback-halfback duo went whizzing right through the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday for a 27-21 victory that set Washington solidly in the Eastern Conference lead with four victories and two ties, the latter not counting in the percentages.

But school may be out real soon for this frolicsome pair. Next week, they do battle with the second-place New York Giants and their crumpling defense that shocked Detroit 17-14 Sunday.

The Steelers dropped into third place, losing to Dallas 42-27, but are still very much in the Eastern title picture with a 3-3 record, compared to the Giants' 4-2.

Green Bay kept the Western Conference lead and a 0 mark with a low starting but decisive 31-13 victory over the San Francisco 49ers. In other NFL action, Cleveland upended the St. Louis goals with a 74-yard kickoff re-Cardinals 34-7, Chicago's Bears turn.

Snead completed 15 of 25 passes for 279 yards, with Mitchell snarling eight for 145 yards.

Y. A. Title shrugged off a first half concussion and the Giants defense shrugged off Milt Plum's aerial and ground bombardment. Title scored on a 4-yard jaunt in the first period and then sat out the rest of the half. He returned in the second half to guide New York to a TD and helped set up Don Chandler's winning goal with his passing.

For almost a half century — since joining the league in 1909 — Northwestern has spent most of its years looking up at the behemoths of Big Ten football.

This could be the year of the big change. Already, the Wildcats are riding along atop the Big Ten with a spotless 4-0 record—3-0 in the conference—and appear to be growing "more confident with every game."

Jim Ninowski tossed TD passes to John Brewer, Ray Renfro and kept its Eastern title hopes. The Bears' Billy Wade also hit three touchdown tosses in all but eliminating the Colts, getting 8-of-11 in the second half and 13-for-2 overall for 318 yards.

Frank Tarkenton, with scoring throws to Doug Mayberry, Charley Ferguson and Tommy Mason, finally helped the Vikings to their first win in six starts.

in the Big Ten down through the passes for 177 yards. The Wild cats did some fancy running and defensive work, too, in the process of overcoming a 14-0 lead. Ohio State's defeat sent the Buckeyes into oblivion for this year, at least.

Except for Ohio State, No. 6 and Arkansas, No. 7, all the top 10 teams in the country protecting Northwestern, No. 8 in the current Associated Press poll, has rolled past South Carolina, Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio State. The Wildcats' 18-14 victory over Ohio State at title, probably wrapped up the Saturday was the big feather in Southwest Conference championship with their squeaky decision.

Myers connected on 18 of 30; The Razorbacks also were knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten untied.

Alabama, the defending national champion, and ranked No. 1, downed Tennessee, 27-7, in a Southeastern Conference game. Southern California's 32 victory over California established the Trojans as the team to beat on the Pacific Coast. They are ranked No. 3 in the nation. Washington, No. 9, with only a tie in five games to mar its record, defeated Stanford 14-0, and still is in the picture.

Louisiana State, No. 4 and Mississippi, No. 5, both pretenders to the Southeastern Conference throne, continued unbeaten. LSU whipped Kentucky 7-0 and Ole Miss downed Tulane 21-0.

Wisconsin, No. 10, warmed up to its task against Ohio State by rolling past Iowa, 42-14.

In the Ivy League, Dartmouth now rates as favorite. The Indians still undefeated, polished off Holy Cross, 10-0, in a non-league game, while Princeton, after three straight league triumphs, went down to a 1-15 shocker at the hands of Colgate, also in a non-league contest. Dartmouth still has not yielded a touchdown.
